Danielle Dudding Irvine has experience representing clients in antitrust litigation, regulation, and compliance matters across a variety of industries. She has provided counsel and analysis of proposed mergers and acquisitions, Hart-Scott-Rodino (HSR) and pre-merger filing notifications, and Second Request compliance. Danielle maintains an active pro bono practice, focusing primarily on wrongful convictions.

Prior to joining Axinn, Danielle practiced in the litigation and antitrust departments of a national law firm, where she advised clients facing complex civil and criminal litigation and investigations.

Danielle earned her JD at Vanderbilt University Law School, where she served as the executive editor of the Vanderbilt Journal of Entertainment & Technology Law. While in law school, Danielle interned at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia.

She holds a BA in International Studies from Southern Methodist University, where she was admitted to Phi Beta Kappa.
